

I volunteer on my town's local accessibility committee which received complaints that some children were unable to use the local playgrounds.

We consulted an occupational therapist who:

- Reviewed the accessibility of the playgrounds.
- Explained how our playgrounds do not work for some children.
- Recommended changes based on universal design principles.

We have implemented the changes and it is great to see all our children playing, growing and learning together.

Because of occupational therapy, all the kids in my community can play together.
